

IT'S TIME TO STOCK UP ON FERTILIZER!

Osmocote® (18-6-12)

Osmocote is a controlled (slow release) fertilizer. Applied in the Spring, it lasts the whole growing season (6-9 months). Osmocote becomes active when the soil warms and should be applied to your bushes in March. Apply approximately 1/2 to 3/4 cup per bush, depending on its size. A 10-pound bag feeds about 32 roses. Osmocote may also be used on other woody perennials

Alfalfa Pellets (with no molasses)

Give your roses a rare boost this year! Alfalfa pellets break down slowly, helping to stimulate plant growth and make better use of fertilizers. Work the pellets into the soil around your bushes at the same time you add Osmocote. Actually, it can be used any time and is also made into a “tea” which is a great treat for your beauties.

- We will place our “bulk” orders based on the amount of orders we receive from you in January.
